Continuation of 11. does NOT place the application in condition for allowance because: Applicant's arguments have been fully considered but found not persuasive. Applicant argues that the cited prior art does not teach soy extracts to have soy trypsin inhibitory (STI) activity as reflected in the new claim amendments. This is not persuasive because the new claim amendments have not been entered into record, therefore this new limitation is irrelevant. Nonetheless, Applicant is reminded that a composition and its properties are inherent, therefore the soy extract as taught by Kelly inherently possesses this STI activity.

Applicant also argues this point by introducing the Seiberg Declaration, which provides an expert opinion concerning whether STI is present or not. Again, this Declation has not been entered into record. Applicant is reminded that an RCE is needed to enter both the new claim amendments and the Seiberg Declaration into record.
